PhonePe beats Google Pay, tops UPI app space in Dec

Google Pay had seen 960-mn transactions amounting to ₹1.6 trn in November

SUBRATA PANDA
 Mumbai, 18 January

Walmart-backed PhonePe has emerged the top unified payments interface (UPI) application (app) in December, with 902.03 million transactions accounting for ₹1.82 trillion, followed by Google Pay with 854.49 million transactions worth ₹1.76 trillion, thus, controlling the lion's share of the UPI market, according to the data by National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI).

Google Pay has seen 11 per cent fall in transaction volume in December, compared to November. In November, Google Pay had seen 960.02 million transactions accounting for ₹1.61 trillion, followed by PhonePe, with 868.4 million transactions worth ₹1.75 trillion.

According to the October data, Google Pay accounted for 857.81 million transactions, while PhonePe came in second, with 839.88 million transactions.

These top two apps account for more than 78 per cent of the UPI market in terms of volume of transaction, and 86 per cent of the market by value of transactions in December. In November, these two apps had more than 82 per cent of the market by volume and more than 86 per cent by value. Paytm Payments Bank app is behind PhonePe and Google Pay, with 256.36 million transactions by volume in December worth ₹31,291.83 crore. New entrant to the market WhatsApp processed 810,000 transactions worth ₹29.72 crore in December. In November, it had processed 310,000 transactions worth ₹13.87 crore.

Other third-party app providers, such as Amazon Pay, processed 40.53 million transactions worth ₹3,508.93 crore, while NPCI's BHIM app processed 24.8 million transactions worth ₹7,748.29 crore.

UPI handled 2.23 billion transactions worth ₹4.16 trillion in December — a record both in terms of volume and value. It breached the 2-billion mark for the third straight month.

In November, UPI had recorded 2.21 billion transactions worth ₹3.9 trillion, and had clocked ₹3.86 trillion of payments in October, which is when it had surpassed 2 billion transactions for the first time.

The NPCI had recently imposed 30-per cent cap on third-party apps on total volume transactions processed via UPI, effective January 1, 2021. This had prompted many to criticise the regulator for stifling competition in the UPI space.

However, the existing third-party app providers processing over 30 per cent transactions will have a period of two years from January 2021, to comply with the same in a phased manner.

Both Google Pay and PhonePe will have to comply with the NPCI's diktat and bring down the share in UPI transactions to below 30 per cent in the next two years.

ideaForge bets big on indigenisation for armed forces

ARINDAM MAJUMDER
 New Delhi, 18 January

When Indian and Chinese forces were engaged in Ladakh last year, the Indian Army realised it needed better vigilance. The army floated an order for a large number of unmanned aerial vehicles, popularly called drones.

Last week, the army signed a $20-million contract with home-grown drone maker ideaForge, to procure undisclosed quantities of a high-altitude variant of SWITCH UAV, an indigenous system used in surveillance operations. While the Indian armed forces have inducted ideaForge drones in the past, this is, by far, the biggest single order the company has landed.

Founder Ankit Mehta, an IIT alumnus who started ideaForge in 2008, while in college sees this as a victory of the military's indigenisation attempts, one which will improve trust in made-in-India equipment. Buoyed by the order, Mehta is now in talks with foreign military forces for his products. "When we went for the trial, it turned out, we were the only one to fulfil the operational need that includes functioning in tough mountainous regions but doing it from a fairly large distance from the base location, with very high-quality imagery," Mehta said. ideaForge competed with the likes of Tata Group, Dynamatic Technologies, and Israel's Elbit.

"We customised our product, the requirement of which came up after the tension at the China border. Since we have been developing this drone maker ideaForge, to technology for a long time, we were confident of meeting the military's expectations, mainly of it being lightweight and the quality of the imagery," he said. The deal has cemented ideaForge's position as India's largest drone maker for defence, homeland security, and industrial applications, experts said.

This is crucial, as India's drone market is primarily flooded by Chinese drones. "Without complete control of technology, it is not possible to customise a product in a short time. The companies that have higher control of their technology will be able to deliver it better. The airframe, autopilot is our software. We also build the control station and communication systems," Mehta said.

Mindtree net rises 65% to ₹326 cr in Q3

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
 New Delhi, 18 January

IT firm Mindtree on Monday clocked a 65.7 per cent rise in consolidated net profit to ₹326.5 crore for the December 2020 quarter.

The company had posted a net profit of ₹197 crore in the corresponding period last year, Mindtree said in a regulatory filing. The Bengaluru-based firm saw its revenue grow 3 per cent to ₹2,023.7 crore in the quarter under review from ₹1,965.3 crore in the year-ago period, it added.

In dollar terms, its net profit rose 59.3 per cent to $44.2 million, while revenue declined marginally to $274.1 million in the December 2020 quarter over the year-ago period.

At the end of the December 2020 quarter, the firm's active client base stood at 276, and eight new clients were added during the quarter, the filing said. Mindtree had 22,195 employees at the end of the December 2020 quarter, with trailing 12-month attrition at 12.5 per cent.

"Our third quarter has by far been the best performing in recent years backed by broad-based revenue growth of 5 per cent across our verticals and service lines, robust margin expansion of 350 bps (basis points), and a healthy order book of $312 million," Mindtree CEO and Managing Director Debashis Chatterjee said.

He added the firm is witnessing strong business momentum across all verticals with a significant demand for cloud, data and analytics capabilities. "We continue to capitalise on the evolving market dynamics with solutions that help enterprises navigate the new normal and grow their businesses," he said.

Big oil's flagship plastic waste project sinks in the Ganges

JOE BROCK, JOHN GEDDIE & SAURABH SHARMA
 Singapore/Naranasi, 18 January

A wheelbarrow and a handful of metal grids for capturing litter, emblazoned with the words "Renew Oceans," sit rusting outside an empty, padlocked office in the Indian city of Varanasi, a short walk from the Ganges.

It is all that is left of a programme, funded by some of the world's biggest oil and chemical companies, that they said could solve a runaway ocean plastic waste crisis which is killing marine life — from plankton to whales — and clogging tropical beaches and coral reefs.

The closure of Renew Oceans, which has not previously been reported, is a sign that an industry whose financial future is tied to the growth of plastic production is falling short of its targets to curb the resulting increase in waste, according to two environmental groups.

The Alliance to End Plastic Waste, a Singapore-based non-profit group set up two years ago by big oil and chemical firms, said on its website in November 2019 that its partnership with Renew Oceans would be expanded to the world's most-polluted rivers and "ultimately could stop the flow of plastic into the planet's ocean."

Exxon Mobil, Royal Dutch Shell, Dow, Chevron Phillips Chemical, and about 50 other firms committed to spend $1.5 billion over five years on the Alliance and its projects. The Alliance has not said publicly how much money it has raised or what it has spent overall.

The Alliance confirmed to Reuters that Renew Oceans had stopped operating, partly due to the new coronavirus, which had halted some work. "Without any foreseeable time frame for restarting, combined with other implementation challenges, the Alliance and Renew Oceans jointly decided to a mutual termination agreement in October 2020," Alliance spokeswoman Jessica Lee said.

Anne Rosenthal, counsel at US law firm Hurwit & Associates, representing Renew Oceans, said it expects the project to fold. "While it has made progress in tackling the problem of plastic waste, the organisation has come to the conclusion that it simply does not have the capacity to work at the scale this problem deserves," she said.

The Alliance, with a staff of about 50, mostly based in Singapore, has other projects in the pipeline, but they are small, community-based endeavours or have not yet come to fruition. "It is important to note that the full impact of projects will be realised when their operations are at full scale," said Lee.

L&T bags up to ₹5,000-crore order from RVNL

ADITI DIVEKAR & PTI
 Mumbai, 18 January

Larsen & Toubro (L&T) has secured a large order for its heavy civil infrastructure business from Rail Vikas Nigam (RVNL) for package-4 of the new broad-gauge line between Rishikesh and Karnaprayag.

In value terms, a large order is one that is between ₹2,500 crore and ₹5,000 crore. However, the exact value of this order is not known.

The scope of the project includes construction of tunnels, formation, construction of shaft, and other ancillary works between Rishikesh and Karnaprayag.

The project involves construction of the 14.577 km upline and 13.123 km downline tunnel with embankments of around 800 metres at both ends.

Of the 14.577 km and 13.123 km of tunnel, 10.49 km and 10.317 km will be excavated using two new hard rock tunnel boring machines of diameter 9.1 metres.

The remaining will be done using the New Austrian Tunnel Method. The scope also includes construction of an ellipsoidal-cum-ventilation shaft in the finished cross-section of 79 square metres and depth of 32 metres.

This will be the biggest TBM to be deployed in the Himalayan region in India.
